Inside The Numbers

Inoue's 11-fight knockout streak dating back to his first meeting with Nonito Donaire in November 2019 ended against Akhmadaliev, the WBA's "interim" titlist. "The Monster," pounded out a decisive unanimous decision due to his high ring IQ, mobility, jabbing (31.6 attempts/5.6 connects per round to Akhmadaliev's 19.2/1.9), body punching (32-14 in connects) and command of distance, all of which minimized the Uzbek's offensive opportunities. Inoue, still the undisputed super bantamweight champion, averaged 48.8 punches per round while limiting Akhmadaliev to 31.3, and he ended the fight ahead 141-62 overall, 67-23 jabs, 74-39 power and 11-0-1 in the CompuBox round-by-round breakdown of total connects as well as 24%-16% overall, 18%-10% jabs and 36%-27% power. Akhmadaliev's 62 landed punches are fewest by an Inoue foe in a 12-round fight. One measure of Inoue's patient and measured attack was that jabs comprised 64.8% of his total output. Scoring: 118-110 (2x), 117-111 1.
