Inside The Numbers

The stats told the story in this rematch, as Lorente's high-volume approach saw him out-land Collins by 47 on nearly 200 more attempts. The contest turned on a dime in the sixth; after being dropped by a Collins jab, Lorente roared back at the end of the round to trap his opponent on the ropes, unloading a barrage that shifted the trajectory of the bout. From the seventh round onward, Lorente took control, out-landing Collins 83–51. While one judge inexplicably saw the fight 116–111 for Collins, the remaining two turned in matching 115–112 cards for Lorente, securing him the split decision.
