Inside The Numbers

Mendoza, a 4-to-1 underdog, took the WBA and WBC flyweight titles from Sandoval behind 40 percent accuracy on his power punches. The first knockdown came inside the final minute of the second round, and though Sandoval looked composed after getting to his feet, Mendoza landed an uppercut with 15 seconds left in the round that put Sandoval down again. Sandoval tried to fight fire with fire, but Mendoza's power was too much for him. All 11 of Mendoza's connects in the fifth were power punches, on 19 thrown, and he dropped Sandoval a third time before finishing with a barrage that brought the referee in.
